SPARKLY SPECTACLE

Get ready for a spectacle at this year's run of the annual Singapore International Jewellery Show (SIJS), into its seventh edition. Look out for Lee Hwa Jewellery's signature Primavera necklace that has been specially created for the event, embracing the theme of the year – the five elements of Mother Earth (Wood, Earth, Metal, Fire and Water). Each element is represented by the floral-themed necklace, complete with precious amethyst, yellow and white gold, black rhodium and brilliant diamonds.

The Singapore International Jewellery Show (SIJS) takes place from July 27-31 at the Marina Bay Sands. Visit www.sijs.com.sg for more information.

WILD CHILD

Mimco's 'Wilderness Manifesto' collection gets straight to the heart of the recycling movement, taking on the monumental task of making the unwanted beautiful again. Metal hardware interlinks with glossy stones to give rise to a finished product that's modern, bold and unapologetically stylish.

Available from August at Mimco, located at B1-29 ION Orchard. Also available online at www.mimco.com.au.

TRUE GRIT

We can't wait to get our hands on designer and silversmith Carolyn Kan's hot new jewellery line, 'Veritas by Carrie K'. We reckon modern-day fashionistas prefer to own a piece of fine jewellery that does not conform to tradition – which, by the way, defines the Carrie K girl, according to Carolyn. Take this rustic piece from the GRIT collection: stones left in their original unpolished state and linked by thin silver chains make for an outstanding one-of-a-kind bracelet.

Available at Asiatique Collections, The Society of Black Sheep and Quintessential. Visit www.veritasbycarriek.com for more information.
